

PG courses running at University Campus in ODL Mode

Program Code	Program Name	Type	Program Outcome	Program Specific Outcome
531	M.A. in Bengali (DE)	PG (Distance) CBCS	The programme is formulated following CBCS structure with a combination of disciplinary core courses, elective courses and open elective courses. Those working may also get enrolled. They are exposed to core knowledge areas in the subject and specialised knowledge across content areas. They will know about applications, making judgements and will be endowed with abilities to continue study in a manner that is largely self-directed and autonomous.	The learners will demonstrate the mastery of the Bengali language and literature by detailing the development and current practices of literary studies, rhetoric, criticism etc. They will have the ability to critique the dominant critical theories, methodologies and practices in the field, conduct research and teach effectively.
532	M.A. in English (DE)	PG (Distance) CBCS	The programme is formulated following CBCS structure with a combination of disciplinary core courses, elective courses and open elective courses. Those working may also get enrolled. They are exposed to core knowledge areas in the subject and specialised knowledge across content areas. They will know about applications, making judgements and will be endowed with abilities to continue study in a manner that is largely self-directed and autonomous.	The learners will demonstrate the mastery of the English language and literature by detailing the development and current practices of literary studies, rhetoric, criticism etc. They will have the ability to critique the dominant critical theories, methodologies and practices in the field, conduct research and teach effectively.
533	M.A. in History (DE)	PG (Distance) CBCS	The programme is formulated following CBCS structure with a combination of disciplinary core courses, elective courses and open elective courses. Those working may also get enrolled. They are exposed to core knowledge areas in the subject and specialised knowledge across content areas. They will know about applications, making judgements and will be endowed with abilities to continue study in a manner that is largely self-directed and autonomous.	They will have the ability to discuss, perceive and narrate diverse time periods, peoples, situations and societies. They will have sound knowledge of historiographical and theoretical frameworks of historical research.

537	M.A. in Nepali (DE)	PG (Distance) CBCS	The programme is formulated following CBCS structure with a combination of disciplinary core courses, elective courses and open elective courses. Those working may also get enrolled. They are exposed to core knowledge areas in the subject and specialised knowledge across content areas. They will know about applications, making judgements and will be endowed with abilities to continue study in a manner that is largely self-directed and autonomous.	The learners will demonstrate the mastery of the Nepali language and literature by detailing the development and current practices of literary studies, rhetoric, criticism etc. They will have the ability to critique the dominant critical theories, methodologies and practices in the field, conduct research and teach effectively.
534	M.A. in Philosophy (DE)	PG (Distance) CBCS	The programme is formulated following CBCS structure with a combination of disciplinary core courses, elective courses and open elective courses. Those working may also get enrolled. They are exposed to core knowledge areas in the subject and specialised knowledge across content areas. They will know about applications, making judgements and will be endowed with abilities to continue study in a manner that is largely self-directed and autonomous.	The learners will have the ability, oral and written, to discuss the main problems of metaphysics, epistemology and ethics in depth, covering different traditions such as western and Indian.
535	M.A. in Political Science (DE)	PG (Distance) CBCS	The programme is formulated following CBCS structure with a combination of disciplinary core courses, elective courses and open elective courses. Those working may also get enrolled. They are exposed to core knowledge areas in the subject and specialised knowledge across content areas. They will know about applications, making judgements and will be endowed with abilities to continue study in a manner that is largely self-directed and autonomous.	The learners will have mastery over current state of the discipline and adequate research competence. They will be demonstrate knowledge of concepts and theories relevant to social science in general and specialised areas of Indian politics, international relations and public administration in particular.. They will have necessary skillset for administrative jobs.

538	M.Sc. in Mathematics (DE)	PG (Distance) CBCS	The programme is formulated following CBCS structure with a combination of disciplinary core courses, elective courses and open elective courses. Those working may also get enrolled. They are exposed to core knowledge areas in the subject and specialised knowledge across content areas. They will know about applications, making judgements and will be endowed with abilities to continue study in a manner that is largely self-directed and autonomous.	The learners will have the understanding of the fundamental axioms and ability to develop ideas based on them. They will also have knowledge of wide range of mathematical techniques and application of mathematical methods, including algebraic topology and representation theory. With project work they will have research competence.
-----	---------------------------	--------------------	---	---